

ABSTRACT

A stencil for the deposition of a heat yieldable joining material includes at least one pattern formation member and at least one channel formation portion associated with the pattern formation member.